THE POPULATION.

A short time ago we gave a brief discription of two unfortunate and deformed children belonging to Mr. David Morria, a resident of licent Creek township, in this county. At that time our knowled and some inaccuracies occurred in our statement. Since that time we have visited, and some inaccuracies occurred in our statement. Since that time we have visited that the children are a much greater wonder than we at fart auppressed them to be. As before stated, there is one of each sex. The male is twenty-two years old, that ty-seven inches high, and weight but forty-one pounds. He has but little foresheed, the hair coming almost to his aphrows. His eyes are deeply sunken into his head, and have the app arance of being almost crossed. His jaws protrade forward to a great extant, while his teeth incline so truck to the front that when he mouth is closed the teeth come almost faily begether. He cannot speak a word. His tounge is abort and thick, and seems to fill he mouth when shut. His body is large for a being of his stature. He weems to have a mind like a child a year old, and maken signs and seems to try to talk like a child of that age. His hearing is very acute, and he can understand what is said to him in relation to things that he is occusioned to. Its flesh has a bioated appearance.

legs are small and seem not to be able to support his body for any great laught of times. It is feet are small also, and the tose incline inward. Altogethar, he is the greatest curiosity of the human species that we ever beheld.

The female is twenty-one years of age, weighs forly pounds and is thirty eight inches in beight. She alrongly resembles the boy in most particulars although ahe is not quite so much deformed. These children have very possitiar habits. They alt around all day, not appearing to pay much altention to what is quoing on. They have to indicate their wants hy sigm, and no one can administer to them unless they are accustomed to their habits. The faimle can speak a few words in reference to the most ordinary matters, but carreily enough to be of any service. They can that little, exept in the middle of the day. They have to have a certain kind of diet, or they

We had made a quick run to the Line, but were a long time detained in those latitudes by what are known to sailors as the enoke from a London chimnay-pot. Nothing can beture irritating to seaman than these winds. They would much rather encounter a heavy gaie; thay know what they are about then, and how long their work is likely to lest. It may be a question of "all hade," and had he sails are furled and resfed, the halohes battened down, the ropes coiled away, and and the "too" of grog served out, the thing is over, and the men leave the fieck preffy certain that all that may be required to be done after that the waich can do. But the Dolutums keep the watch constantly employed. FURNISHED ST THE BOARD OF TRADE, FRIDAT EVENING, July 19

I select a bunch of rheleton kays, and offer a low trials, which thall a but seemed to watch with the most painful anxisty, sprang die buit. The door awang open its hinges, and my companion tailing manut to close it, as it was self-locking, sprang into the vanit. I did not follow. I heard the next moment the lady appeared, and leaning upon her orm a men with lace so pain and heggard that I started at this sight. How he must have suffered during the three long days, of his confinement!

d I heard them enter a room immedialy above where I was standing. In me then e minute the lady returned. "Shall I close it, madaun?" said I, seeing my hand upon the door of the mit.

"Midaus, you certainly do not intend "Ara you ready?" sha interrupted, impatientily, helding the handkarchief to my eyes, Tha thought flashed across my mind that she lutanded to push ma late
the vault, and bury me and my secret tegether. Sha seemed to read the anapicloud, end continued: "Do not be alarmsol. You are not tha man."

I could not mistake tha truth or the fearful meaning of the remark, and I shuddered es I bent my head to tha
